Keymacro is a pure open source BitTorrent Client. It was designed as a light weight solution to easily share large files. The client does not manage downloads like other BitTorrent clients, but instead focuses on file sharing. It uses DHT and PEX to share files over the network. A feature called auto-announce is also available to automatically announce the users availability and bandwidth to peers. You can create multiple torrents from the same file on a single account. Keymacro uses DHT and PEX
