The etiology of 12 perineal hernias of newborns is discussed in this paper. The herniation occurs in cases of premature rupture of the amniotic membranes (RAR). The incidence of RAR is 1 in 1,000 full term pregnancies and decreases to 1 in 10,000 in premature deliveries. The maximum frequency occurs in the 27th week of pregnancy. Among congenital perineal hernias, the majority include the perineum and vagina. Herniation of the bladder into the perineum occurs only in 5 595f342e71
