(TSX: APH) said today it is developing about 90 kms of its Leamington facility as the company awaits the results of a potential sale that could take place by mid-2019. Aphria said it has filed a notice of its intention to sell approximately 23,571,700 warrants to acquire all of the issued and outstanding voting shares of MedReleaf Corporation for an aggregate of $750,000, at an exercise price of $1.73 per share. The transaction is expected to close in the fourth quarter of 2019. Aphria said as a result of the transaction, the company will cease paying dividends on the distributed shares and warrants of MedReleaf for fiscal 2018. Aphria Corp. (TSX: APH) said today it has reached a deal to sell the remaining interest in its CannTrust Holdings Inc. (TSX: TRST) operations to Bruce Linton's new company, as well as a 60 per cent interest in its Aphria Mexico subsidiary for a total of $1.5 billion. Aphria has contracted to sell 21.3 million Common Shares and 1.7 million Warrants of Aphria Inc. for an aggregate amount of $1.8 billion to U.S. cannabis company Acreage Holdings, Inc. (CSE: ACRG) (OTCQX: ACRGF). This represents a 35.8% increase in the price of the Common Shares based on Aphria's closing price on the TSX on October 7, 2018. Aphria said this additional capital will be used to fund the production and expansion of its Leamington facility. Shares closed at $10.16 on Thursday. Aphria said today it has completed and closed a non-brokered private placement of 1.3 million units consisting of 600,000 Common Shares and 600,000 Warrants. The 1cdb36666d

Bhagwan Darshan - Download & Read Online ebooks in pdf & epub format.The Pathology Core provides the necessary diagnostic services to address several aspects of the program, including assessment of the biologic specimens, cytogenetic analyses of cancer cells, assessment of toxicity to normal cells, studies of environmental factors and their influence on tumorigenesis, and studies of the changes of the genome that occur during tumor development and progression. The core has two areas of primary involvement: 1) the clinical pathology laboratories, and 2) the research laboratories (the latter including the facilities of the Analytical Imaging Shared Resource). The clinical pathology component has two sections, the Clinical Genetics Section and the General Pathology Laboratory. The Clinical Genetics Section houses a Clinical Cytogenetics Laboratory, a Flow Cytometry Laboratory and a Molecular Genetics Laboratory, which operates on a business day, Monday through Friday, 7 am to 5 pm. The laboratory has a staff of 5, of whom 3 are medical technologists, 1 is a molecular biologist, and 1 is a cytogeneticist. The laboratory does all routine cytogenetic analyses, including karyotyping, translocations, and submicroscopic abnormalities, but it also performs specialized chromosomal analyses, including FISH/SISH, color in situ hybridization, and comparative genomic hybridization for the assessment of numerical or structural changes, comparative genomic hybridization for

A few lawyers have already contacted us to ask for copies of the contracts. I need all three of you to verify for me that the file is readable so that I know no one has a copy of any contracts that they can print and show people. Thanks, ChrisQ: How to render Json.Encode, and not just a string, for a collection in a view? I have an MVC app that uses Json.Encode to send a collection to a view. It returns it as a string. Is there a way to make it so the collection is directly rendered by the view? Right now, this is what I have: @{ ViewBag.Title = "Trouble Ticket Reporting"; //this returns the collection as a string, and renders it as a string, when it should be rendered as a collection. @Html.Raw(Json.Encode(System.Collections.Generic.List)) //This
